

“People say if you take people from around the world and put them in a mixer, you make a Latin American. Most of Latin America was colonized by several European nations in the 1500’s. Most of the countries regained their independence between 1810 and 1970; with Curacao being the latest in 2010.

False doctrine has dominated Latin America for centuries. Most Baptist mission work began in the 1800’s, reaching people hungry for the Gospel. Today, parts of Latin America are experiencing political and economic struggles. Some are also experiencing great revival in which you could take part. Yet, there are still untold millions who have not clearly heard the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ even once!”

Why Should I Consider Latin America?

Many pastors, missionaries, church leaders, and young people have visited Latin America and have been greatly impacted by how the people respond to Jesus for salvation. Latin America is a mission field white and ready for laborers unto the harvest.

The myriad of people groups love to see North Americans come to be among them—excited to see visitors that care about them. They also love to hear people preaching the Wonderful Word of Life. Imagine God calling you to love and be loved by people who have never heard about so great salvation!

Is It Hard to Get Into Latin America?

Latin American countries are mostly open to missionaries. Most of the governments realize that Christian churches are a great blessing to the communities. The majority of Latin American's are Catholics; that are close to the truth of the Gospel. But there are also many indigenous peoples in need of the Gos-
